Experience

2004 - 2020

Interior Designer

I've worked on projects ranging from complete residential, gut renos to multi-family commercial design. As a lead designer, I was responsible for design development and implementation, client presentation development and concept boards, furniture and materials selection and floor plans and space planning. I met with contractors regularly to review plans and and manage projects.

2020 - Present

3D Visualization and 2D Drafting

I decided to pivot! I taught myself to create floor plans, elevations and amazing 3d visuals & I recently became a Certified Render Artist for Mydoma.

Conceptual Design

This designer reached out to me looking for a conceptual design render to present to her client during the initial design phase. They were looking for a visual to convey the overall concept, selections and color palette and that's exactly what we accomplished. There's a reason they say “A picture is worth a thousand words”!

Product Placement

When this designer decided to create her own line of home decor products, like this rug, she needed a way to showcase it without having to create an actual space in the real world so we collaborated on this amazing Living Room virtually. She has a very maximalist approach to design which really helped spark my own creativity.

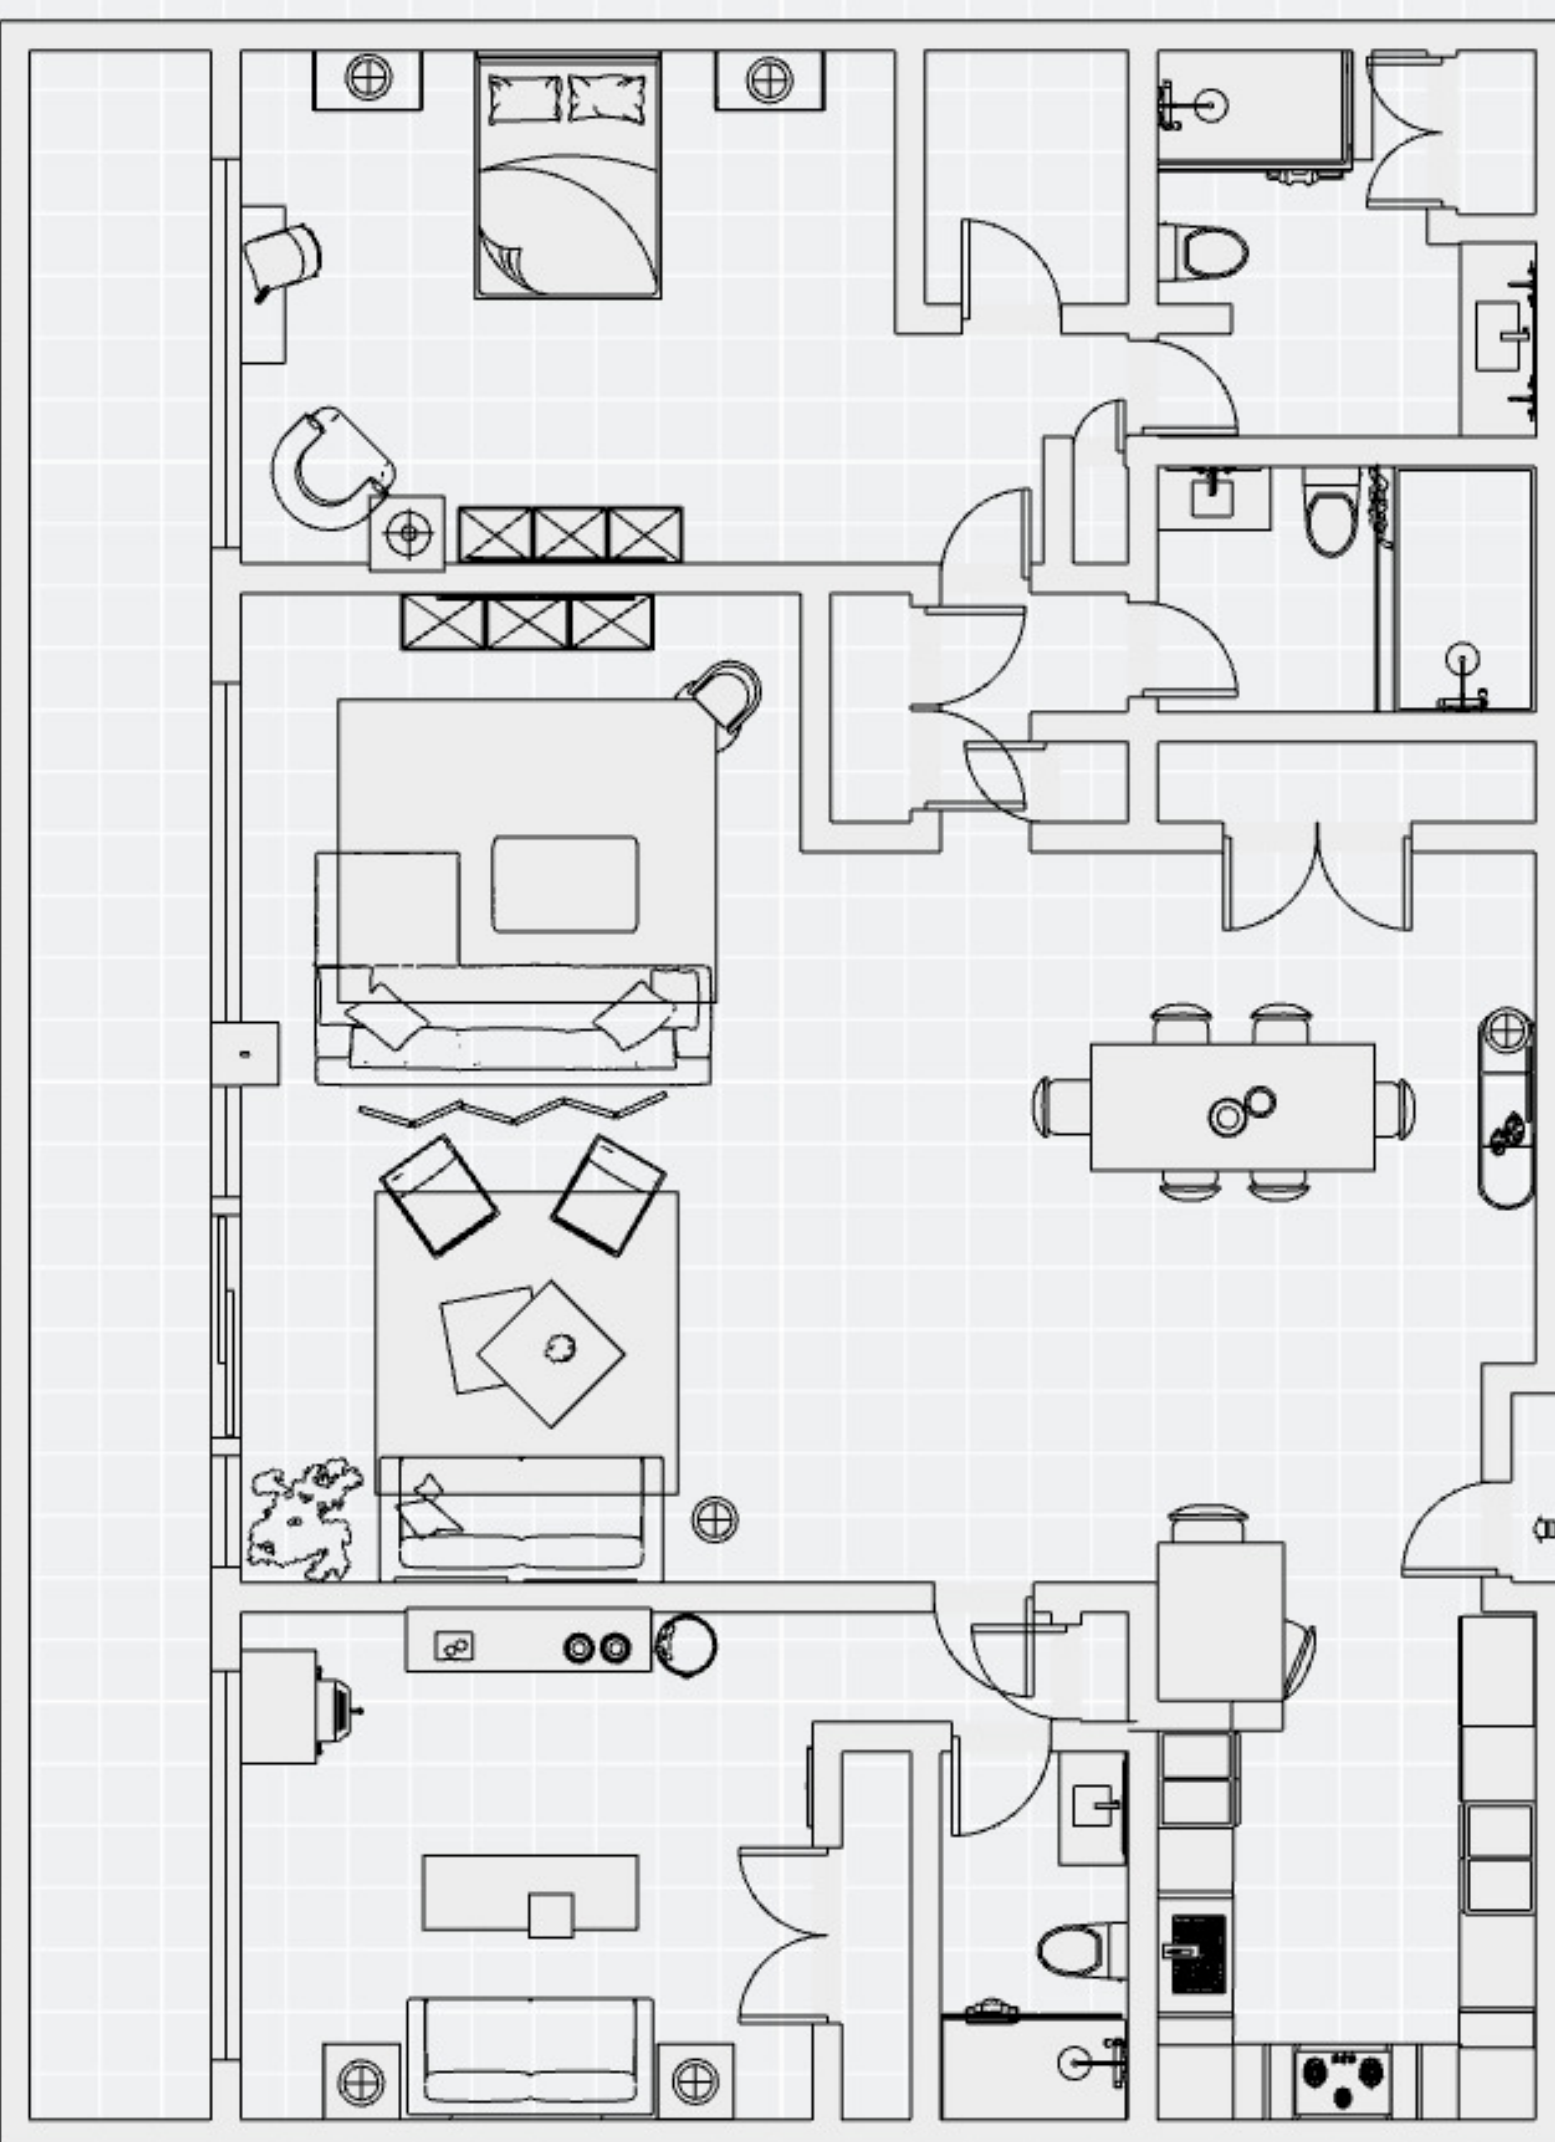

Boutique Hotel Lobby

This Hotel Lobby render was created for a local designer working on one of her largest projects to date. She sent me the architects plans and some inspo and we got to work bringing this incredible space to life. She had some very specific ideas about the overall aesthetic and, through our collaborative efforts, we were able to achieve exactly what she was looking for.

The Indecisive Client

Raise your hand if you've been there? This long time designer came to me at her wits end. She had a client who was really struggling with envisioning the design concept so we did the only thing left to do. We rendered it and it worked! The client was thrilled with the designers ability to capture the room as it would be once the project was complete.

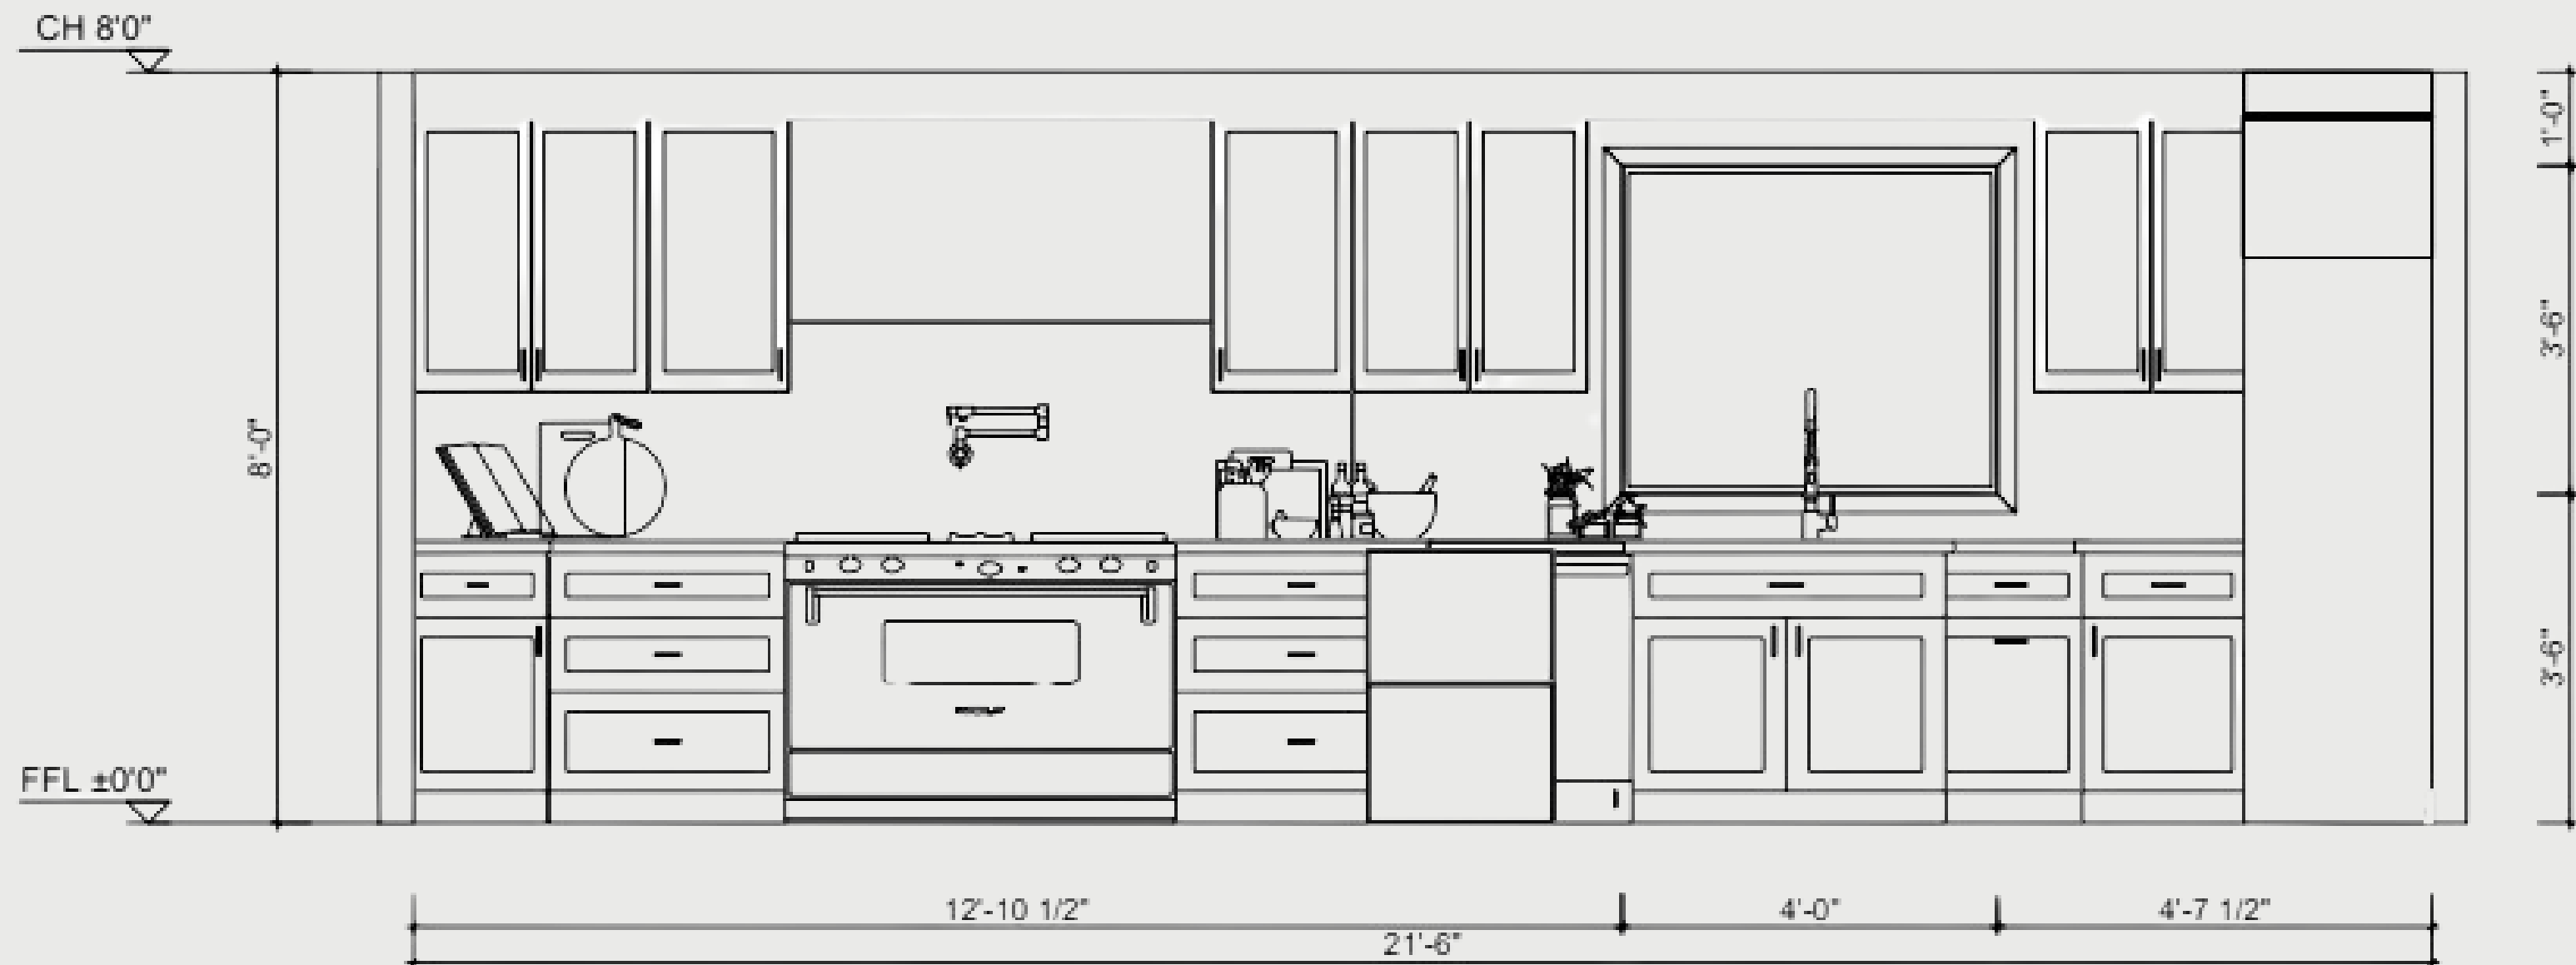

Floor Plans

Floor plans are essential. They provide a clear overview of spatial organization, helping you & your client visualize how different areas within a space will flow together and ensuring efficient use of available square footage. They are the foundation for interior design decisions, guiding the placement of furniture, fixtures, and decorative elements.

Elevations

Elevations offer a clear visualization of design concepts, enabling you to experiment with different layouts in a virtual environment before implementation, saving you time and resources while maximizing creativity!

These images will help you communicate your ideas effectively to clients & contractors and provide accurate measurements and spatial planning.

Presentations

2D presentations are fundamental tools in the creative process, offering concise visual representations of design concepts. They allow you to communicate your ideas effectively, conveying the style of a space in a clear and easily digestible format. These presentations provide a roadmap for the project & serve as reference documents throughout the design process.
